

MJoTA Press Release 20 December 2009

MJoTA (Medical Journal of Therapeutics Africa at mjota.org) and NYEcho (New York Echo newspaper) showed up in the middle of a snowstorm to witness and celebrate the 2009 Christmas Fundraising Christmas Party of the Ikale Progressive Society New York in Coney Island. This organization started in 1999, they meet once monthly to support each other and do what they can to help back home in Nigeria. The organization is particularly interested in education and scholarships. Children were running around happily, the older children organized a raffle, everyone talked and danced and ate and talked to each other. The Christmas meeting was hosted by the family of the organization's Secretary Tunde Basorun, who works for New York City. President Durojaye Akindutire MD told the gathering that he was born a Prince in Nigeria, and works as a physician in New York.

Ikale people are Nigerian Yoruba who are descendants of the Benin Empire in West Africa.

We took pictures that are posted in Dr Dodgson's Picasa albums

<http://picasaweb.google.com/sjdodgson>

These pictures can be obtained in presentation albums as well as in individual framed or unframed prints in any size. For price list, see page 2. For more information about what we offer, see page 3.

MJoTA press releases are a service of Medical Journal of Therapeutics Africa, the online celebration of African professionals at <http://www.mjota.org>. Contact the Publisher at mjota@rocketmail.com and 609-792-1571. Advertise your event or service in MJoTA press releases and in New York Echo newspaper.